Dear Director Wallace,

It was such a blast seeing you at DisruptCon last week! I'm so glad we had a chance to catch up.

Based on your suggestions, I was hoping to throw my hat in the ring for any open positions in your department connected to design and content strategy. As you know, I have spent the better part of the last decade honing my skills in that arena, and I would love to hear about any opportunities in your office related to my skillset.

Please let me know if there's any additional information that I can send over; I appreciate you taking the time and I look forward to seeing you again soon!

Best,

Betty James
