COVER LETTER

I am writing to put forward my application for the role of Junior Creative in your agency.

I have worked in different corners of the creative industry for the last seven years, and it took some dipping my toes in different waters to realise that this is the area I'd like to work in. From creative strategy to digital marketing, I've had a go at pretty much everything which means I can likely tackle anything that you could throw at me.

As someone with an artistic degree and a background in photography and video editing, I particularly enjoy content creation as it allows me to blend all of my skills together. This role in particular excites me as your client base is so wide-ranging. I would really relish the opportunity to diversify my creative output and to build a strong portfolio for your business across the luxury, hospitality, beauty, fashion and music industries.

Organisation is a natural strength of mine so I work well independently, but I also love working as a team on creative projects and building on each other's ideas to create something collaborative and extraordinary. Having worked in a variety of client-facing roles over the years I have no doubts about my ability to connect with people and brighten their day. I'm definitely ready to step into the next chapter and focus on building a career that fulfils me and pushes me to exceed my potential.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours Sincerely,

DAISY CARTER
